

TRUSTED SYSTEM FOR FILE DISTRIBUTION

ABSTRACT

A secure token includes a processor for protecting a first cryptographic key against unauthorized access, and creating a second cryptographic key from the first key and a message unique to an insecure device. The second key is usable for file decryption by the insecure device.